Cosmetic oil for muscle and joint massage, containing Black Cumin Seed Oil (Nigella sativa) with a high Thymoquinone content, Jojoba Seed Oil (Simmondsia chinensis) and natural Tocopherols.

DESCRIPTION

PROPERTIES:

- For muscle and joint massage.
- Black cumin seed oil contains a fixed oil (mainly unsaturated fatty acids) and a volatile oil (with unsaponifiables: thymoquinone and others). Both are mainly responsible for its cosmetic effects: control of epidermal thickening and inflammation with pain reduction, particularly when associated with osteoarthritis, mastalgia, and psoriasis (associated with the usual medications).
- It also contributes to skin repigmentation.
- Jojoba seed oil, which contains esters instead of triglycerides, serves as a diluent for black cumin seed oil and, with its properties similar to natural sebum, helps penetrate the stratum corneum and prevents water loss as well as stimulating collagen formation.
- Natural Tocopherols provide the antioxidant capacity necessary to keep the oils from oxidation.
