Active principles:

- Aloe vera: nourishes and rehydrates the mucous membranes. It has a high content of polysaccharides that participate in the formation of mucous membranes. The mucosa is largely made up of water and aloe is known for its moisturizing and regenerating properties. It also has enzymes that limit bacterial growth.
- Thyme: one of the most powerful natural antiseptics known. Its action consists of strengthening the immune system, making the area more resistant to infections or eliminating existing ones.
