

CPNI - 11D 90 Capsules

EAN: 8711827076148 FABRICANTE: BONUSAN

Bonusan CPNI-11D, thanks to Rhodiola rosea (rhodiola), contributes to the normal functioning of the nervous system and, as it contains Eleutherococcus senticosus (Siberian ginseng), it contributes to the normal functioning of the immune system and normal psychological function.

DESCRIPTION

Why does it contain schisandra and Eleutherococcus?

Schisandra (Schisandra) is a plant that is traditionally used both in China and in the Far East of Russia. In fact, in China it is considered one of the fifty fundamental plants. The most important components of schisandra are schisandrins.

Contrary to what its name, "Siberian ginseng," suggests, Eleutherococcus senticosus is not from the ginseng family. It is so named because it has similar properties and applications.

What is rhodiola?

Rhodiola (Rhodiola rosea) contains a wide range of substances, including phenols, glucosides and flavonoids. Rhodiola extract is standardized for the most important glucoside, rosavin, and salidroside. This plant works closely with schisandra and Siberian ginseng.

How do you know that cPNI-11D is of high quality?

Bonusan CPNI-11D contains three standardized plant extracts. This means that this supplement always contains a guaranteed amount of important substances. This complex is produced in our own factory. Since the entire production process is under our control, we can guarantee the high quality of our supplements.
