Colostrum technologies is the laboratory that manufactures the C-live brand. C-live is high quality bovine colostrum. Colostrum is very important for the formation of the body's defenses and therefore for the optimal development of the immune system.

DESCRIPTION

C-Live is a leading brand in the sale of high quality bovine colostrum, supplied by Colostrum Technologies GmgH, which has pioneered the development of a patented and non-invasive process of cold processing of colostrum in 1994, which meant a breakthrough in the food industry.

C-live does not contain fat or casein, because they are eliminated, so there is no need to fear an allergy to milk protein. C-live can be found in various forms, as a liquid extract, in powder form.

Colostrum Technologies has organic certification in its products, since the colostrum they use comes from certified organic farms in Germany, Switzerland and Austria.
