DESCRIPTION

What is Enzimax Digestimul used for?

It is used to improve digestion in people with a tendency to achlorhydria. Betaine hydrochloride produces more acidity in the stomach, in order to improve digestion in these people with a tendency to achlorhydria. It is a set of digestive enzymes to digest the main foods. In this formula, betaine is accompanied by a gentian extract which, due to its bitterness, helps to digest fats especially well and stimulates pancreatic juices.

What is the dosage of Enzimax Digestimul?

You should take two capsules before the main meal.

What is the composition of Enzimax Digestimul?
