Poppy Food Supplement, improves the functionality of the upper respiratory tract.

DESCRIPTION

The poppy belongs to the Papaveraceae family and has always been known in folk medicine as a sedative and cough suppressant. It is used in cases of seasonal allergies and is effective as a bronchospasm reliever.

Capelvenere (Mailwort) is known as a mild expectorant and emollient, therefore useful for dry coughs. It also acts as a real cough sedative.

In association with poppy and maidenhair, Drosera is widely used. This plant is used for its spasmolytic, bronchiolitic and bechic action in respiratory tract conditions characterized by dry and convulsive cough. It is therefore particularly suitable for the treatment of bronchial forms characterized by spasm, such as asthmatic bronchitis and allergic asthma.

Ingredients: Water, alcohol, Poppy (Papaver rhoeas L.) petals 40%, Maidenhair (Adiantum capillus-veneris L.) aerial parts, Drosera (Drosera rotundifolia L.) whole plant, honey, mixture of natural aromas.
