Alquimila Food Supplement, relief from menstrual cycle discomfort.

DESCRIPTION

The plant is also known as the “Alchemists' Herb” because the Alchemists collected the dew (celestial water) that settled on it, to later use it in the search for the philosopher's stone and try to prepare “the elixir of long life”.

The plant has astringent, diuretic, decongestant, antidiarrheal, haemostatic and digestive properties. It contains mainly tannins.

The aerial parts of the plant are obtained. It can be useful as an adjuvant in diarrhea, heavy periods and dyspepsia.

It is also used externally, on sores and ulcers, using poultices diluted in a ratio of 1:4 (one part tincture and four parts sterile distilled water) and applied to the affected parts twice a day; for leucorrhea and vulvar itching, wetting the affected parts two to three times a day with the same dilution; and for pharyngitis, gargling two or three times a day.

Ingredients: Water, alcohol, Alchemilla (Alchemilla vulgaris Lsl) tops 20%, honey.
