Radish Food Supplement, promotes digestive function.

DESCRIPTION

Spring treatments with black radish are useful for ridding the body of toxins accumulated during the winter due to stress and fatigue.

Radish can be eaten fresh. It relieves arthritis, asthma, chronic bronchitis, dermatosis, liver and intestinal disorders, whooping cough, and tones the intestine, sometimes causing mild diarrhea.

Radish can also be used in cases of inflammation of the bile ducts, gallstones and gravel, while stimulating bile reflux.

In case of sensitive stomach, it can cause mild heartburn and acidity. The active substances of radish are mainly sulphur glycosides, the most important of which is sinigrin.

Ingredients: Water, alcohol, Radish (Raphanus sativus L. var. Niger Miller) rhizome 20%, honey.
