Blackcurrant - Ribes nigrum - in the form of embryonic tissue extract, is an effective anti-inflammatory and anti-allergic agent by direct inhibitory action on the enzymatic chains that produce prostanoids and, by indirect action, by stimulating the release of corticosteroids that play the role of activators of the endogenous anti-inflammatory response; it is useful in rheumatic syndromes.

Pine - Pinus montana - is an anti-inflammatory of joint cartilage and a bone regenerator; useful in joint osteoarthritis, osteoporosis, bone fractures and rheumatism. Grapevine - Vitis vinifera - is an anti-inflammatory and immune stimulant, useful in osteoarthritis, arthritis, rheumatism and osteoporosis.

Birch - Betula verrucosa - is a joint drainer and anti-inflammatory in rheumatic syndromes.

White fir - Abies pectinata - is an anti-inflammatory at the level of the lymphatic plexuses, as well as a stimulator of calcium fixation; useful in the consolidation of fractures.
