Some of their oils are nut-based, but they are all vegan, gluten-free, and soy-free.

DESCRIPTION

Taller Madreselva is a family business. The laboratory stands in a natural environment, surrounded by aromatic plants

It elaborates cosmetic and aromatherapy products in an artisanal way, all of them with organic organic certification. Eliminate 95% of plastic packaging, replacing it with more sustainable packaging such as glass or aluminum.

The laboratory responds to the criteria of respect for the environment that Julián Marcilla inspires in his projects. An attractive building, whose design harmonizes with the rural environment in which it stands, heated by geothermal energy and illuminated by LEDs. Surrounded by Calendula cultivation fields with which KM0 products are made. Integrated and immersed in the environment, the Laboratory is one more among centuries-old chestnut trees, majestic oaks, nervous squirrels and some roe deer that often visit the vicinity.

Geothermal is achieved by digging wells a hundred meters deep to extract heat from the subsoil. It is an environmentally friendly method. The lighting installation of the entire company is with low consumption LED lights.

Our offices are designed with glass walls allowing maximum use of sunlight. We save energy and contribute to reducing fossil fuel emissions.
