Lamberts Green Lipped Mussel Extract, in pure extract form, is an aid for joints.

DESCRIPTION

Green mussel extract is a mollusk native to the coast of New Zealand. Its first preparations were made in powder form and were unstable, so they oxidized easily and had an unpleasant smell. Today, the New Zealand government protects the waters in which these mussels live and keeps them free of contaminants.

The observation that Maori people, who regularly consume the green-lipped mussel, suffer less from arthritis than their mainland relatives, led to the development of this compound as a supplement in 1974.

This product contains the pure extract of a green-lipped mussel, Perna canaliculus, which is only found in the clear, clean waters surrounding New Zealand. It is used by millions of people around the world for joint wellness.

The studies carried out suggest that one of the active ingredients of green-lipped mussel extract is found in a protein compound contained in it, and that its properties are specific to this type of mussel, as they have not been able to be demonstrated for other types of molluscs.

Green-Lipped Mussel Extract is a natural shellfish extract and allergic reactions may occur in people who are allergic to shellfish. This product is not recommended for pregnant or breastfeeding women. The shellfish smell of Green-Lipped Mussel Extract is quite normal and is not a sign of spoilage.
