DESCRIPTION

What is Naturlider Dandelion and what is it for?

Naturlider's dandelion is a food supplement that stimulates the secretion of the digestion organs, which is why it is used in cases of gastric hypoacidity and in the case of sluggish liver, constipation.

It also highlights its beneficial action on kidney stones due to its laxative and diuretic action.

Thanks to this diuretic action, safe and without unwanted effects, it cleanses and eliminates toxins accumulated in the body.

What are the properties of Naturlider Dandelion?

The dandelion is a perennial plant, with a long and fleshy taproot. It has alternate lanceolate and toothed leaves, with a midrib, arranged in a rosette at ground level. Blooms in summer. It is an ordinary grass that grows along the paths and among the grass. It has a yellow flower that later turns into a ball with white hair, it is a popular game to blow this ball to make the seeds fly and make a wish.

The scientific name comes from the Greek words "taraxos" which means disease and "akos" which means remedy.

Although the leaves and flowers are nutritious and have been commonly used as food, the root is the part of the plant that has been most used since ancient times for diuresis and as a laxative.
