Cannabidiol, commonly known as CBD, is a chemical compound found in the cannabis/hemp plant (Cannabis sativa L.). Unlike tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), another common cannabinoid found in the same plant, CBD has no psychoactive effects and therefore does not produce a "high" or "high" feeling. Instead, CBD has been linked to a wide range of health benefits, including reduced pain, inflammation, and anxiety, among others.

DESCRIPTION

What is Plantis CBD used for?

CBD, an abbreviation for cannabidiol, is one of the most common chemical compounds found in the cannabis/hemp plant (Cannabis sativa L.). Unlike other cannabinoids, such as THC, which have psychoactive effects, CBD is neither dangerous nor addictive, providing only a feeling of relaxation and a wide range of health benefits. Among the products that contain CBD are those that are made with hemp oil, arnica and hypericum.
