Plantis Alcohol-Free Stonebreaker Extract is a supplement with the property of dissolving urinary tract stones.

DESCRIPTION

The alcohol-free aromatic concentrate of Rompepiedras (Lepidium Latifolium) has been made with organically grown plants, some of which come from wild plants that have been controlled during their collection. The extraction of the active ingredients has been done using the PAP (Protection Actifs Primaires) technique, a "non-destructive" technique that allows the extraction of all the active ingredients from the plants through a double alcoholic extraction and subsequent replacement of the alcohol with vegetable glycerin, without any alterations to the quality of the active ingredients and, consequently, to their beneficial properties.

The use of glycerin dates back to 600 BC. It is an organic compound found mainly in animal oils and fats, as well as in smaller amounts in vegetables, combined with fatty acids. The glycerin used to obtain our extracts is vegetable, has a sweet taste, but is metabolized differently than sugar and does not raise blood sugar levels.
