Raab Vitalfood is a Bavarian family business that has been producing high-quality plant-based foods and food supplements for more than 30 years. Their products are Bio and Vegan.

DESCRIPTION

Since yesterday we have not only dedicated ourselves to organic farming: for more than 30 years we have been developing and producing food supplements and foods of plant origin at our location in the heart of Bavaria. As a second-generation family business, Raab Vitalfood is headed by Dr. Andreas Raab. Our own production means that we are independent and can always guarantee the quality and safety of our products.

Our team is made up of nutritionists and food technologists who incorporate their expertise into our products every day. In addition, we are certified according to the highest IFS standard. Specifically, this means that our raw materials and products are risk-based and carefully screened for residues, microbial contamination and their advertised nutrient content.

Whenever possible, our goal is to develop high-end vegetable food supplements without unnecessary additives and of organic quality. To do this, we keep a close eye on everything from raw material to finished product. For us the following does not apply: the more, the better. That's why we always stick to safe and sensible specifications when it comes to dosages. We promise and only sell what we ourselves are 100% convinced of.

With a product portfolio ranging from goji berries, chia seeds, spirulina, rosehip powder and hemp protein to protein and L-arginine shakes, MSM capsules, turmeric and D-mannose tablets, Raab Vitalfood offers the right product for every need. Trust in the many years of experience, tradition and competence of a family business from Hallertau in Bavaria, which has been in existence since 1989, and convince yourself of our high-quality products. We prefer to source our plant raw materials from regions and climatic zones where the plants are originally native and have their natural and characteristic vital substance profile. Only raw materials grown in accordance with the organic regulation EG 834 and the BNN code (Bundesverband Naturwaren Naturkost e. V.) are used. Raw materials are processed carefully and in the smallest possible quantities with the aim of preserving the food in its original form as much as possible. Additives are avoided whenever possible. Raab Vitalfood is one of the pioneers in the field of organic food supplements. This product segment is our core business and we consider ourselves market experts in this field. Whenever possible, we completely avoid additives in our product formulations and rely on natural ingredients and the power of nature. Our range includes, for example, astaxanthin capsules, ginger tablets, turmeric extract capsules, hyaluron capsules and many more. For anyone looking to get more protein into their diet, our plant-based proteins are the answer. Since naturalness is important to us, purely vegetable proteins do not contain more than the ingredient that gives them their name. Therefore, our hemp protein consists of 100% ground hemp seeds, our almond protein consists entirely of ground and partially de-oiled almonds and, for example, ground hemp seeds. B. Lupine protein from the seeds of the European sweet lupine. These and other varieties can be mixed into muesli, porridge and smoothies, but can also be used in low-carb baking. Vegetable powder for muesli or smoothie: at Raab Vitalfood there are numerous pure powders to refine everyday dishes. Spinach, beetroot, seaweed, acerola, grass and powdered rose hips: there is something for everyone. In addition, we offer several superfood mixes that contain an excellent selection of plant, fruit and root powders and are particularly easy to integrate into your daily diet.
