SOS are anxiety or discomfort rescue candies from the Bach Rescue brand. The history of Bach Rescue dates back to 1930, in London. The intention of Mr. Bach, was to help people to have a state of mental health and an appropriate attitude to maintain an optimal state of health. Mr. Bach attached great importance to mental and emotional health. He studied 38 different flower and plant essences. essences that are still used today in all Bach and Rescue products.

DESCRIPTION

The flower essences used to make Rescue are the same as those used seventy years ago. To this day, it is manufactured in London with the highest quality guarantees.

Mr. Bach chose five flower essences to help manage emotional health, and these five essences are still used today. These five essences take into account the five most frequent sentimental states that people experience every day.
