DESCRIPTION

Himalayan pink salt is a highly valued product in today's kitchen. It is characterized by the pink color it acquires from the minerals with which it comes into contact naturally.

Himalayan pink salt is a type of unrefined mineral salt rich in trace elements, such as magnesium, so it has less sodium per serving than other salts.

It is usually used especially for meat and fish, and is also often used as kosher salt. It is recommended to add it after cooking to preserve all its qualities.
