The exposome is the scientific explanation of the impact of people's lives on the skin. Takes into consideration the internal and external factors that affect the biological functions of the skin. There are three main factors of the exposome: environmental factors

The greatest strength of Laboratorios Vichy is to provide solutions for everyone, women and men, whatever the needs, types and phototypes of their skin and scalp, of all ages, from adolescence to menopause.

The exposome is the scientific explanation of the impact of people's lives on the skin. Takes into consideration the internal and external factors that affect the biological functions of the skin. There are three main exposome drivers: environmental factors, such as UV exposure, climate change, and pollution; lifestyle factors such as stress, nutrition and lack of sleep; and the hormonal variations that occur throughout life. Environment, lifestyle, hormones: their cumulative and interconnected impact helps Laboratorios Vichy decode and anticipate the skin's changing needs at each stage of life.
