Vivani is a German brand of excellent quality chocolate production. Known worldwide both for its flavors and for the designs of its wrappers with paintings by the artist Annette Wessel.

DESCRIPTION

Vivani started producing high-quality chocolates in the year 2000. It started as a small company and is today recognized worldwide. It is a sustainable brand.

It was Andreas Meyer, an expert baker and nutritionist from Saureland in Westphalia, who developed the idea of creating organic chocolate of the highest quality.

Vivani chocolates are 100% organic, the ingredients used are not obtained from the exploitation of natural resources. They only process cocoa with a sustainable certificate from Central and South America and the cultivation of cocoa is carried out without exploitation or child labor.

Vivani uses completely ecological packaging for its products.

Regarding the packaging, something that characterizes the Vivani chocolate bar wrappers is the artistic design. This design was initially introduced in a chocolate mini-series, "Edizione d'Arte", in which artist Annette Wessel included her paintings on the wrappers for the first time. Thanks to the popularity of the series, since 2009 Wessel has decorated all Vivani chocolate bars with elegant presentations.

A stylistic technique that has paid off as Vivani began to flourish and became one of the most popular chocolates on organic markets in Germany, as well as a worldwide export success.
