probiotics that facilitate absorption and hemp protein, which provides all the essential amino acids.

And what is so special about marine collagen?

According to the findings of research published in the Journal of Agricultural and Food Chemistry*, it is evident that our marine collagen is absorbed more efficiently compared to other sources of collagen, such as those of porcine or bovine origin. Likewise, an independent study carried out by INSA (Institut National des Sciences Appliquées de Toulouse) confirms that the marine collagen we use at Marinecol is the one with the greatest assimilation capacity, thanks to its hydrolyzation process.
